Rampaging Romans

The Roman way of life is a much darker and dingier set of norms than we currently find ourselves in. We will discover how life changed for the Celts from the first invasion by Julius Caesar in 55BC to the Romans settling for a period of 400 years. We will march with the mighty Roman army to fight against the warrior queen—Boudica—and explore the lasting legacy of how Roman occupation impacted life in Britain today. Hail Caesar!

In the Zone

In this topic, we'll be exploring and getting in the zone as we find out all about climate zones! Did you know that different parts of our world have very different types of weather? Some places are hot and dry, others are freezing cold, and some are warm and rainy all year round. You'll discover where these zones are, what they're like, and how people, plants, and animals live in them. Get ready to travel the world (without leaving the classroom!) and become a climate zone expert!

Ancient Civilisations—The Maya

Get ready to travel back in time to explore this amazing period in history! The Maya lived thousands of years ago in Central America and were brilliant builders, artists and astronomers. They even made one of the first calendars. Things might get a little gruesome when we learn about their sacrifices, but don't worry - there's also something sweet ahead - chocolate! The Maya were some of the first people to make it, so this is one history topic that's full of surprises!

Rainforests

The world is a dazzling place where humans, plants and animals co-exist. The rainforests of our planet are crucial to our everyday survival and so, looking after them should be our number one priority. We are going to be stepping into the shoes of David Attenborough to find out why rainforests are under threat and discover what can be done to protect them and ensure the sustainability of our planet for generations to come. Let's get ready for an adventure!

Life in Tudor Times

Time travel to the exciting world of the Tudors! Watch out for your heads as we meet King Henry VIII and his daughter Queen Elizabeth I, one of England's greatest rulers. We'll discover how changing from Catholic to Protestant had a huge impact on people's lives. Then, set sail with Sir Francis Drake as he travels around the world and get ready to face the fearsome Spanish Armada! It's a time of adventure, danger, and discovery—so grab your ruff and get ready for Tudor

Inkberrow Now and Then

Inkberrow has changed considerably over the last 100 years and we're going to find out how! In this topic, we'll take a look at the way life has changed for people who live in the village. We will take on the role of History Detectives, using primary and secondary sources such as maps, photos and first-hand accounts to find out what life was like in the village in the past. There might even be a mystery to solve along the way and I guarantee you'll learn something new!
